PERMANENT MISSION OF THE ARGENTINE REPUBLIC
TO THE UNITED NATIONS

NEW YORK
19 SEPTEMBER 1979

H.U. No. 144/79/310
AR/in

Sir,

I have the honour to transmit to you herewith the text of the reply of the Minister for Foreign Affairs and Public Worship of the Argentine Republic to your note of 30 January 1979, received by this Mission on 1 February last.

"Sir,

"I have the honour to reply to your note of 30 January 1979, in which you expressed interest in receiving information concerning the situation of various persons in the Argentine Republic

"This prompts me to refer to the general situation in my country and to the sequence of events which denote my Government's readiness to provide a comprehensive and constructive response to the national problems it has had to face.

"As you know, during the past decade Argentina has had to defend itself against a subversive process whose aim was to transform the political, economic and moral values of its people and which sought to impose its objectives under the pretext of so-called social reforms. Limitless violence and terror were unleashed in order to attain that end.

"After making immense sacrifices, the Government has been able to ensure for the Argentine people the peace necessary to proceed to national reconstruction.

"The acts indicating our desire progressively to correct the situations resulting from the political climate prevailing during those years, which obliged the previous Government to establish and maintain a state of siege from 1974 onwards, include the gradual release of various persons detained at the disposal of the National Executive. The number of detained persons has now been reduced to 1,438, some 180 being on probation and 12 under house arrest.

H.E. Mr. Kurt Waldheim
Secretary-General of the United Nations

"Furthermore, legal provisions have been adopted concerning the cases of persons who disappeared during those years, in order to enable their families to regularize their situation by bringing up to date measures such as the declaration of absence with presumption of death and matters relating to benefits and retirement pensions.

"Above all, however, I wish to place special emphasis on the decision of the Argentine Government to extend an invitation to the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights, which is currently in my country. This regional commission is part of the system of the Organization of American States, of which Argentina is a member.

"I am sure that, with your vast experience and store of wisdom, you will be aware that over and beyond slogans and tendentious political campaigns or the interference of a few foreign Powers are the interests of a people, possessed of a keen awareness of its moral values and a resolute will to independence, which will know how to meet the challenge of our political era and follow its destiny to the goal of national reorganization.

"Accept, Sir, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Carlos Washington Pastor".

Accept, Sir, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Ambassador
Permanent Representative

ALVAREZ ROJAS, Federico Eduardo (II.1)

LEIKES de ALVAREZ ROJAS, Hilda (II.2)

Federico ALVAREZ ROJAS and his wife Hilda LEIKES were reported to have been abducted in the early hours of 1 October 1978 by a group of armed persons who broke into their home in Buenos Aires, left the couple's children with no one to care for them, and took the automobile belonging to Mr. ALVAREZ ROJAS.

With regard to the presumed abduction of the persons in question, the description of the incident tallies perfectly with the modus operandi used by gangs of criminal terrorists - who were still active at the time of the incident - to carry out indiscriminate acts of violence against the most diverse sectors of the population as a means of achieving their ends.

Because of the nature of the reported crime, the case was taken up by Federal Court No. 1, presided over by Judge MARQUARDT (Dr. ANADON, Secretary of the Court), which is investigating the matter.

HAGELIN, Dagmar Ingrid (II.3): the case of Miss Hagelin has been given careful attention by the Argentine Government in an effort to find useful clues or information and also to ascertain whether the facts were duly noted and verified by the competent organs.

As a result, it has been possible to establish the following:

(a) On 13 April 1977 Mr. Ragnar Ernard HAGELIN, father of Dagmar Ingrid, applied for a writ of habeas corpus on her behalf to Federal Court No. 4 of the Federal Capital, presided over by Judge Norberto GILPETA, the application being entered under No. 3723/77 in the register of Secretariat No. 10.

In that document the applicant reported - along with other, minor details - that Dagmar Ingrid had received a bullet wound and had subsequently been seized by persons unknown.

Pursuant to the application, the judge called for reports from the Ministry of the Interior, the Joint General Staff of the Armed Forces, the Argentine Navy and the Morón Regional Office of the Province of Buenos Aires Police as to whether those organs had detained Dagmar Ingrid or had taken part in any procedures that might have been carried out at the time and place stated in the application.

As the replies received were in the negative, the judge rejected the application for a writ of habeas corpus. However, noting that Dagmar Ingrid HAGELIN had been the victim of "a serious attempt against her physical safety and liberty", he ordered that the case should be referred for investigation to the judge having jurisdiction ratione loci.

(b) Following that referral, the criminal court judge presiding over Court No. 2 of the Judicial Department of Morón (Province of Buenos Aires) took over the case under action No. 11,428 in the register of Secretariat No. 3.

This judge - Jorge Carlos TEMPERLEY - ordered a thorough investigation in the area where the incident had occurred, attaching to the record of the preliminary investigation photographs of the site, ground plans and the testimony of persons living in the neighborhood, including Jorge Oscar ELES, in whose taxi-cab the young woman who may have been Dagmar Ingrid HAGELIN was taken away after being wounded.

(c) After these measures had been ordered and carried out, the judge learnt that the same events were being investigated by Federal Court No. 2 of the city of San Martín (Province of Buenos Aires), presided over by Judge Roberto GITARD, whereupon he sent the file on the preliminary investigation to the latter federal judge on jurisdictional grounds and in order to centralize the judicial proceedings.

This case was entered under No. 2445/78 in the above-mentioned Federal Court No. 2 on 20 November 1978 and is now being actively investigated.

(d) On 21 November 1977, Mr. Valentín Ernesto BUCCICARDI, grandfather of Miss HAGELIN, in turn applied for a writ of habeas corpus to Federal Court No. 2 of San Martín (Province of Buenos Aires), presided over by Judge Manuel Augustín GARCIA TUNON, under number 16,574.

Pursuant to this application, the same steps were taken as in the case of the application referred to in paragraph (a) above and similar information was requested. Representations had also been made by the Swedish Embassy in Argentina, and further action was taken at the request of the applicant. For instance, in his original submission in the case, the grandfather of Dagmar Ingrid HAGELIN stated that she had been living at Calle Bermudez 5261, Villa Bosch, District of Tres de Febrero, Province of Buenos Aires, and requested that a statement should be taken from the owners of that building. The judge accordingly took testimony from the owners of the building, Mrs. Angela AYALA de CABRERA and Mr. Juan Tiburcio CABRERA MENDEZ, who told the judge that they occupied one room in the building and rented out the other eight rooms. They also stated that they did not know Dagmar Ingrid HAGELIN under that name, but that on 4 December 1976 they had rented a room to a young woman giving the name of Marta de los Angeles CALABARI, whose identity card number (7,809,471) they had recorded and who had told them that she lived in Mar del Plata and for study purposes needed a room there, which the owners agreed to rent to her.

The owners of the building went on to say that shortly afterwards another young woman, named Gladys, had stayed in the same room occupied by "Marta", claiming to be her cousin, for which reason they had not taken down her personal particulars.

They then explained that on 28 January 1977 eight or nine armed persons had come to the house, saying that they were members of the Mobile Brigade (it should be noted that there is no security agency of that name) and that they had detained Marta, and had asked to see the room occupied by "CALABARI", to which the owners had agreed. They said that the intruders had taken away personal effects of the young woman, without properly identifying themselves at any time.

Needless to say, if Dagmar Ingrid HAGELIN and Marta de los Angeles CALABARI were the same person, this would mean that - as her grandfather himself indicated - she was living away from home, even though she was a minor, under an assumed name and presumably with false identity papers. This observation is without prejudice to the fact that, in accordance with the rules governing judicial proceedings, it is for the judge in charge of the investigation to determine and clarify such matters, like any others brought before him.

Federal Judge GARCIA TUÑON, to whom alone the application for a writ of habeas corpus (the purpose of which is to establish whether a person has been lawfully or unlawfully detained) had been submitted, having received a negative reply from all the authorities questioned about the alleged detention, rejected the application for a habeas corpus on 4 September 1978. Nevertheless, the record of these judicial proceedings now forms part, ad effectum vivendi et probandi, of the documents in the case which was brought before Federal Judge GITARD for alleged unlawful deprivation of liberty (as referred to in paragraph (c) above).
